“ Sad feelings permeate my being today because Freddie Cooke and I who shared the same neighborhood community in our youth took flight before I had the opportunity to share his wonderful adult legacy that his friends and other speak about. Deep condolences to his family, and may Freddie rest in eternal peace.

“ Fred was looked at as a person that could always make one laugh, and he could. But, Fred had a deeper side that few saw. He wasn't there just for the show, he truly cared about people. His love for his extended family, which was almost everyone he met, was evident in the way he always had an ear for their problems and a shoulder for their tears. Fred provided the example as to how God expects us, his human creations, to share love and compassion. He showed us the way. It is up to us to follow accordingly.
